About Me
I am a dedicated student in the field of "Software in Computer Systems", with a strong passion for technology and programming. My goal is to pursue a Bachelor's degree in Computer Science abroad, where I can further expand my knowledge and gain practical experience in the IT industry. I am particularly focused on mastering front-end development, with expertise in technologies such as JavaScript, React, and Next.js. I am also a language enthusiast, continually improving my proficiency in English and Russian to better communicate and collaborate in the global tech community. I am an eager learner, a problem-solver, and someone who is always excited to take on new challenges, especially in the fast-evolving IT world.

Languages:
• Azerbaijani (Native)
• English (upper-intermediate)
